Principal State and Territorial School Officers 2
Executive Officers of State and Territorial Library Extension Agencies 68

INTRODUCTION

This directory is a listing of the principal officials in the State and Territorial departments of education and library extension agencies. It also shows the internal organization of State departments of education through indentation of official titles. Professional personnel directly responsible to an official other than the chief State school officer are listed under that official, and the relationship is shown by appropriate indentation. Chief State and Territorial school officers provide the listing for their departments of education. They use the following criteria:

For inclusion:

1. All regularly employed professional personnel of the State department of education who report directly or through a superior to the chief State school officer and whose duties are statewide in scope.

For exclusion:

1. All field or regional personnel (supervisors, consultants, counselors, etc.) of the State department of education who are under the immediate supervision of an officer of the department other than the chief State school officer and whose duties encompass only a certain geographical portion of the State.
2. All personnel of State-operated schools, libraries, museums, radio stations, etc., which are administered through the State department of education, except the heads of such State-operated programs who provide a specialized statewide service to schools and school personnel or who are recognized as bureau or division heads in the Department.

COUNTY AND LOCAL SCHOOL SYSTEM SUPERINTENDENCIES

INTRODUCTION

THIS DIRECTORY lists the superintendents of public school systems for all counties, supervisory districts or unions, regions, cities, towns, and other local school systems in the United States and Puerto Rico. Included also are lists of superintendents or their counterparts in church-related schools of five church organizations which maintain school systems on a State, regional, or national basis. Altogether, the Directory includes 14,318 superintendencies representing an enrollment of approximately 36,655,000 pupils.

Data included in this publication, with the exception of enrollment data, are based upon lists of superintendents of local schools supplied by the State departments of education. It is the objective of the U.S. Office of Education to maintain an accurate listing for directory users who wish to communicate with these school officers. To assure the greatest possible accuracy, these lists were sent to the State departments of education for review and verification as late as August 1961. The church-related school lists were supplied by the national offices of the five church organizations included.

TYPES OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENCIES INCLUDED

County and supervisory districts or union superintendencies.—The county or its equivalent constitutes an area for public school administration in all of the States except Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Idaho, New York, and the six New England States. There are two basic types of county school organization: the county-intermediate and the county-unit system.

The county-intermediate system is the traditional and most prevalent form of county school administration. It exists in areas where the local, smaller type of school district prevails as the basic administrative unit, primarily in the Great Lakes, Midwest, and Far West areas. The intermediate system performs a variety of administrative and supervisory functions and provides supplementary educational services to the local administrative units, especially to those employing no local superintendent. Under this type of organization, the county school superintendent generally serves as an intermediary between the basic local administrative units and the State department of education. However, the specific functions and degree of administrative independence of this type of district vary from State to State. School systems of the county-intermediate type predominate in the following States:

Arizona	Michigan	Oklahoma
Arkansas	Minnesota	Oregon
California	Missouri	Pennsylvania
Colorado	Montana	South Dakota
Illinois	Nebraska	Texas
Indiana	New Jersey	Washington
Iowa	North Dakota	Wisconsin
Kansas	Ohio	Wyoming

The county-unit school system, on the other hand, is a countywide, basic administrative unit. It is most prevalent in the Southeastern States, but is showing an increase in other States. A county-unit school system includes all public schools of the county. In this type of school system, the administrative policies are set by a single board and carried out by a single superintendent and his staff. There is but one educational budget and one center of administrative control for the entire county. All public school systems in the States of Florida, Maryland (except the city of Baltimore, which is a separate political entity), Nevada, and West Virginia are organized exclusively as complete county-unit systems. Many of the counties in the States of Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Utah operate complete county-unit systems. In the remaining counties in these States, there are local school system superintendencies that are independent of the county systems in which they are located.

In the State of Virginia, a "Division," the official designation for school districts in that State, normally consists of either a single county or a single city. In some instances, however, a division consists of two counties or a county and a city. In Utah, although most of the school districts are organized and administered as county-unit systems, a few counties are divided into 2 or 3 districts, each of which has its own school superintendent.

In New Mexico, 25 counties do not maintain county school organizations. Schools in these counties are administered by local school system superintendents. The remaining 7 counties have county school organizations in which are located one or more local school system superintendencies.

"Supervisory district" or "union" is the term used for the intermediate type of school district in the New England States. Those New England town school systems which are too small, individually, to employ a superintendent on full time, are organized into supervisory unions consisting of two or more towns. Such unions employ a superintendent to serve all towns entering into the union. Similarly, the New York State school systems, which are outside of city or similar districts, have been combined to form supervisory school districts, each employing a full-time superintendent.

Local school system superintendencies.—"Local school system superintendents," in many States, are those through whom direct contact may be made concerning the public school districts of a particular State. The local school systems—cities, towns, villages, boroughs, consolidations, jointures—which employ local school officers known as superintendents, are listed in this directory alphabetically by State. These alphabetical listings of local school systems follow the listing of the county, supervisory union, or similar intermediate units in States having such intermediate types of organization.

The local school systems in cities or towns not employing any superintendents are not listed in this directory. Generally, these may be regarded as operating somewhat more closely under the supervision or jurisdiction of the superintendent of the county or union in which they are located, than those employing local superintendents. Directory users who wish to contact school officials in such districts should, therefore, write to the respective county or similar superintendents.

Superintendents of church-related schools.—The superintendents of these schools are responsible to the central or area officers for the respective church groups. Names and addresses were supplied by denominational groups and are presented in the following categories:

Catholic parochial schools—by State, archdiocese, and diocese.
Jewish schools (area directors)—by city area agency.
Lutheran parochial schools—by supervisory district.
Protestant Episcopal schools—by diocese.
Seventh-Day Adventist schools—by union or local conference.

SOURCES OF ENROLLMENT DATA

Enrollment data for individual school systems were obtained by a mail survey conducted from April to June 1960 by the Bureau of the Census at the request of the U.S. Office of Education. In this survey, the county or similar types of superintendents were asked to bring up to date the 1957 Census of Governments[1] listing of school systems for their respective counties. Officials were asked to supply the total number of pupils enrolled in each system as of October 31, 1959, or the nearest later date. The data shown here as public school enrollments are based on (1) a summation of enrollment figures obtained for individual school systems by the mail survey, and (2) enrollment figures when obtainable from State school directories for the same school year 1959–60. As indicated in the summary table, 19 State departments of education and Puerto Rico updated their enrollment figures as of the fall of 1960 and 2 State departments of education and the District of Columbia updated their enrollment figures as of the fall of 1961. These updated enrollment figures are the ones used in the summary table and in the listings involved.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

1. States are listed in alphabetical order.
2. Within each State, county, or similar school systems are also listed alphabetically. The following information appears in order after the county name.
   a. The number of school districts having no local superintendents is given in the first set of parentheses after the name of the county or union.
   b. Combined enrollments in these districts are next given in a second set of parentheses.
   c. The name of the county or similar school system superintendent follows.
   d. The mailing addresses of the school system completes this listing.

   Example: For Indiana, the data presented for Bartholomew County are as follows:

	(a)	(b)	(c)	(d)
Bartholomew	(9)	(2,865)—	Joseph S. Foust,	Columbus

   For Massachusetts, the data presented for the superintendency Union Number 1 are as follows:

	(a)	(b)	(c)	(d)
1	(3)	(944)—	Peter V. Garofoli,	Baldwinville

3. Local school systems, which employ local school superintendents, are then listed alphabetically for the entire State. The following information appears after the name of each such local school system:
   a. Name of intermediate unit in which it is located (in parentheses).
   b. Enrollment (in parentheses).
   c. Name of superintendent.
   d. Post office address (if different in name from that of the district).

   Example: For Texas, the data presented for the local school systems are as follows:

(a) (b) (c)
HOUSTON (Harris) (168,217)—John W. McFarland

For California, the data presented for the local school systems are as follows:

(a) (b) (c)
Acalanes Union High (Contra Costa) (3,793)—Neil M. Parsons, (d)
Lafayette

Exceptions to these arrangements of data are found in those States that do not maintain the office of county superintendent of schools or any similar type school organization. The type of school organization in States in this latter category is explained in the paragraph preceding the particular State's listing.

In cases where the urban schools in New England are administered by superintendents of supervisory or superintendency districts or unions, the name of the union is given, or it is designated by number.

Several States, primarily Arizona, California, Colorado, and Illinois, have separate districts for some elementary and secondary schools; others maintain elementary districts only, with a separate high school district encompassing a larger area, such as the county. Where this is true, the districts are designated as "Elem." or "High," and the superintendent for each is listed.

[1] Enrollment data shown here, unless otherwise indicated, are for the school year 1959–60.

[2] Included are some counties in which several local school systems are located that are independent of the county system.

[3] The county superintendents perform mainly a service function in 40 counties in Arkansas, 11 counties in Mississippi, and 22 counties in South Carolina. Enrollment data for these counties are listed under the local school system superintendencies of the counties involved.

[4] Enrollment data as of September 1961.

[5] Enrollment data as of September 1960.

[6] Includes regional superintendencies, as follows: Connecticut, 8; Massachusetts, 24; New Jersey, 31; and Rhode Island, 2.

[7] Included in these 90 districts are 31 State Board Unit Districts that do not appear in the Directory because they do not employ a local superintendent or supervisory principal. The enrollment for these 31 districts is 1,414 and is included in the State total.

[8] Enrollment data not available before printing deadline.

NOTE.—Enrollment totals are rounded to the nearest hundred.

CONNECTICUT

Supervisory Union, Regional High School, and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 126 school superintendencies in the State: 13 union, 8 regional high school, and 105 local school system superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The State has established supervisory unions that include several towns and employs a separate superintendent for each union to administer all of the schools within their boundaries. These combinations (supervisory unions), do not have a name or number designation; therefore, all component towns administered by the same superintendent are listed alphabetically before the superintendent's name. The 8 regional high school superintendencies are designated by number and are listed accordingly.

Enrollment data are as of school year 1960–61.

MAINE

Supervisory Union, Administrative, and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 124 school superintendencies in the State: 91 supervisory union, 17 administrative, and 16 local school system superintendencies. There are no county school superintendencies in Maine. The general administration of public schools is under the supervision of a supervisory union, administrative or local school system superintendent. In this State, two or more towns combine to form union or administrative district superintendencies, each of which employs a superintendent who has jurisdiction over all schools in the union or administrative district. Each union and each administrative district is designated by its official number and is listed accordingly.

Enrollment data are as of September 1960.

MARYLAND

County and Local School System Superintendencies

The State has a complete county-unit school system except for the city of Baltimore, which has its own local school system. Therefore, there are 23 county-unit superintendencies and one local school system superintendency in the State. All other public schools in cities and towns in Maryland are under the supervision of the superintendent of schools of the county in which they are located.

Enrollment data are as of October 1960.

MASSACHUSETTS

Superintendency Union, Regional High School, and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 256 school superintendencies in the State: 55 union, 29 regional high school, and 172 local school system superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administration of public schools is under the supervision of a union, regional or local school system superintendent. Each union is designated by its official number and each region is designated by name.

Enrollment data are as of school year 1959–60.

Supervisory Union and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 48 school superintendencies in the State: 38 supervisory union and 10 local school system superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administration of public schools is under the supervision of a supervisory union or local school system superintendent. In this State, two or more towns combine to form a supervisory union superintendency; they employ a superintendent who has jurisdiction over all schools in the union. Each union and each local school system superintendency is designated by its official number and is listed accordingly.

Enrollment data are as of school year 1959–60.

[1] The joint school plan used in Pennsylvania represents a contractual relationship between two or more school districts. As legal entities, school districts can by contract enter into an arrangement called a "jointure" which makes possible the pooling of resources by two or more districts to strengthen educational program offerings for increased numbers of pupils. A central unit for administration of all the district schools in a jointure is created under this plan. Since it is not a legal entity, a jointure may be terminated at the will of the contracting districts.

[2] There is no county school government. All schools in the county are under the supervision of the superintendent of schools of the city of Philadelphia.

UTAH

County and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 40 school superintendencies in the State: 22 county-unit systems, 11 county districts, and 2 county systems in which are located 2 of the 5 local school system superintendencies in the State. The counties of Juab, Salt Lake, Sanpete, and Utah (divided into 2 county districts), and Summit County (divided into 3 county districts) do not have county superintendents. Each of these county districts has its own superintendent, who is listed under the county in which his office is located.

Each local school system superintendency is located within the county listed in parentheses following its name.

Enrollment data are as of school year 1959–60.

* Asterisk indicates county-unit counties.

Supervisory Union and Local School System Superintendencies

There are 54 school superintendencies in the State: 44 supervisory union and 10 local school system superintendencies. There are no county school superintendents in the State. The general administration of public schools is under the jurisdiction of a supervisory union or local school system superintendent. The supervisory unions consist of two or more towns presided over by a superintendent having jurisdiction over all of the schools in the union. Each supervisory union is designated by name and is listed alphabetically under the county in which it is located.

Each local school system superintendency is located within the county listed in parentheses following its name.

Enrollment data are as of school year 1959–60.

Special Notice

IN THE UNITED STATES no reputable institution of higher education confers degrees solely on the basis of correspondence study. The lax chartering laws in some States permit the existence of correspondence schools whose practices amount virtually to the sale of degrees. Such organizations are commonly referred to as degree mills. The Office of Education defines a degree mill as "an organization that awards degrees without requiring courses of instruction that all reputable educational institutions require before conferring degrees." Most of these degree mills operate solely by mail. In many cases staffs and plants do not even exist.

Degree mills are a serious threat to American educational standards in several ways. First they damage, by misleading the public, the legitimate and reputable correspondence schools which are filling an important and necessary role by providing correspondence study in the areas of vocational and adult education. Correspondence courses are also offered by some colleges and universities. But legitimate correspondence schools do not award degrees, and colleges and universities do not award degrees on the basis of correspondence courses alone. Second, degree mills defraud those who honestly believe that they have received recognition from a legitimate institution of higher education. Third, they lower American prestige abroad by deceiving foreign students. They cause legitimate American educational degrees to be undervalued because of the confusion overseas between bona fide institutions of higher education in the United States and the degree mills.

In view of the inadequacy and utter worthlessness of degree mills and their disservice to American higher education, the U.S. Office of Education strongly urges the public to be on guard against organizations advertising degrees based solely on correspondence study. Caution should also be exercised in evaluating degrees and other credentials, to ascertain whether or not they have been obtained from degree mills.

INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION—INTRODUCTION

CRITERIA FOR LISTING IN THIS DIRECTORY

INSTITUTIONS reported to the Office of Education as being in operation during 1960–61, offering at least a 2-year program of college-level studies in residence, willing to submit regularly and promptly the information required for listing, and meeting the criteria stated below, are included in this directory.

The criteria for listing in the directory are as follows:

1. Institutions accredited or approved[1] by a nationally recognized accrediting agency, a State department of education, a State university, or operating under public control, are eligible for inclusion.
2. Institutions not meeting requirements of criterion 1 are eligible for inclusion if their credits have been and are accepted as if coming from an accredited institution by not fewer than three accredited institutions.

The listing includes all institutions in the United States which meet the specified criteria.

CLASSIFICATION OF INSTITUTIONS

Institutions are classified by highest level of offering and by type of program.

The following categories have been established to designate institutions by highest level of training:

I. 2 but less than 4 years of work beyond the 12th grade—includes junior colleges, technical institutes, and normal schools offering at least a 2-year program of college-level studies;

II. Only the bachelor's and/or first professional degree—includes those institutions offering courses of studies leading to the customary bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree, and all those degrees which entitle the possessor to enter the profession indicated; e.g., doctor of medicine, bachelor of pharmacy, or bachelor of science in engineering;

III. Master's and/or second professional degree—includes those institutions offering the customary first graduate degree, and any degree earned in the same field after the first professional degree, or after a bachelor's degree in that field; e.g., the degree of electrical engineer, earned after the bachelor of engineering, or the degree of doctor of science of law earned after the bachelor of laws degree;

IV. Doctor of philosophy and equivalent degrees; and

V. Other (explained by footnote).

[1] For definition of accreditation or approval, see page 7.

The designations of institutions by type of program are as follows:

a. Terminal-occupational (below bachelor's degree)—to represent a program not extending beyond the 14th or 15th grade, designed to prepare directly for an occupation, and not intended to prepare for advanced study;

b. Liberal arts and general—including those institutions offering a 4-year program leading to the bachelor's degree;

c. Liberal arts and general, and terminal-occupational—for institutions offering programs described by a and b above;

d. Primarily teacher preparatory;

e. Liberal arts and general, and teacher preparatory;

f. Liberal arts and general, teacher preparatory, and terminal-occupational;

g. Professional or technical—including those institutions offering a program of occupational preparation (excluding teacher preparatory);

h. Professional or technical, and teacher preparatory;

i. Professional or technical, and terminal-occupational;

j. Liberal arts and general with 1 or 2 professional schools; and

k. Liberal arts and general with 3 or more professional schools—including institutions organized as universities.

ARRANGEMENT OF DATA

An institution is listed in this directory under the State in which its post office is located. A branch institution is listed as a unit of the parent institution, with a cross reference to facilitate finding of the data. Arrangement of the data shown is uniform as follows:

For institutions organized as universities:

Name of institution, location (accreditation, control, student body, calendar system, code representing classification of institution by level of offering and type of program, enrollment).

Name of officers as follows:

Chief executive officer.
Chief academic officer.
Chief business officer.
Registrar and admissions officer.
Librarian.
Chief personnel officer and dean of men and dean of women.
Dean or director of each professional school or college.[2]
Dean of graduate school.
Director of summer session.

For other institutions of higher education having an enrollment of more than 200:

All data as above, except those relating to professional schools.

For institutions with enrollments of 200 or fewer:

Chief executive officer.
Chief academic officer.
Chief business officer.
Registrar or equivalent officer.

[2] Some universities maintain departments which are the equivalent of schools in other universities, but such departments are not listed unless they are separately organized with a dean or director in charge.

ABBREVIATIONS AND SYMBOLS

In parentheses immediately following the name and location of an institution, the abbreviations and symbols separated by semicolons indicate six facts:

1. Accreditation of the institution by one or more of the nationwide or regional accrediting associations.
2. Control of the institution whether public, private, or denominational as reported by the institution.
3. The student body:
   coed.—coeducational—for both men and women.
   cord.—coordinate—separate colleges for men and women.
   men—for men students only.
   wo.—women—for women students only.
4. Calendar system on which the institution operates: semester, quarter, or other.
5. Code representing classification by highest level of offering and by type of program.
6. Enrollment of regular college students in the fall of 1960.

ACCREDITATION

In the United States no single agency, public or private, assumes responsibility for the control or supervision of educational institutions. The States exercise varying degrees of control, but permit institutions of higher education to operate with considerable autonomy. As a consequence, the institutions vary widely in the character and quality of their programs. A device known as accreditation has developed through which State, regional, and nationwide agencies have established criteria and evaluate institutions with a view to determining whether programs of educational quality are being maintained.

The accrediting procedure consists of four steps: establishment of criteria, evaluation of institutions by competent authorities to determine whether they meet established criteria, publication of a list of institutions that meet the criteria, and periodic reviews to ascertain whether accredited institutions continue to meet the criteria. Institutions which are accepted by an accrediting agency or association as meeting its criteria are said to be accredited or approved. The best available method of ascertaining the general standing or quality of an institution of higher education in the United States is to examine its accredited status.

Institutions with liberal arts and general programs and, in some cases, those with special programs are accredited by six regional accrediting associations. These associations are indicated throughout this directory by the following abbreviations:

E., New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.
M., Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.
N., North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

NW., Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.
S., Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.
W., Western College Association.
‡Preceding any of the letters listed above or the abbreviations given below indicates that the institution is provisionally accredited, or accredited with some reservation, or is admitted on probation.
—Not accredited by any nationwide or regional accrediting association.

Professional schools are accredited by the following associations. The abbreviations are those used throughout the directory to represent accreditation by the appropriate organization.

Accrediting Association of Bible Colleges: Bible (Bi).
Accrediting Commission for Business Schools: Business (jcb) (scb).
American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business: Business (bus).
American Association of Schools of Religious Education: Religious education (rel).
American Association of Theological Schools: Theology (theol).
American Bar Association, Section of Legal Education and Admission to the Bar: Law (law).
American Chemical Society, Committee on Professional Training: Chemistry (chem).
American Council on Education for Journalism: Journalism (jour).
American Council on Pharmaceutical Education: Pharmacy (phar).
American Dental Association, Council on Dental Education: Dental hygiene (dh), dentistry (dent).
American Library Association, Committee on Accreditation: Librarianship (lib).
American Optometric Association, Council on Optometric Education: Optometry (opt).
American Osteopathic Association: Osteopathy (osteo).
American Podiatry Association: Podiatry (pod).
American Public Health Association: Public health (ph).
American Veterinary Medical Association, Council on Education: Veterinary medicine (vet).
Commission on Accreditation of the Council on Social Work Education: Social work (sw).
Council on Medical Education and Hospitals: Medical record librarians (mrl), medical technology (mt), occupational therapy (ot), physical therapy (pt), X-ray technology (xt).
Engineers' Council for Professional Development: Engineering (eng), technical institute curricula (tech).
Liaison Committee on Medical Education: Medicine and basic medical sciences (med).
National Architectural Accrediting Board: Architecture (arch).
National Association of Schools of Music: Music (mus).

National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education: Teacher education (ted).
National League for Nursing: Nursing (nur).
Society of American Foresters: Forestry (for).

The accreditation or approval of institutions of higher education by State departments of education or State universities is not shown in this directory, but may be found in Office of Education Bulletin 1960, No. 24, entitled Accredited Higher Institutions.[3]

NOTE.—The Office of Education does not accredit or approve any educational institutions.

CONTROL

The legal control of institutions (not support or affiliation), as reported by each institution, is shown with the following abbreviations:

C.—City or municipal government—public control.
Church—Refer to abbreviations—denominational control.
Co.—County government—public control.
Dist.—District government—public control.
Nat.—National or Federal Government—public control.
P.—Private; independent of church or state—private control.
Prop.—Proprietary.
St.—State government—public control.
Ter.—Territorial government—public control.
Twp.—Township government—public control.

CALENDAR

The calendar system on which each institution operates is indicated by the following designations:

Sem.—semester.
Qr.—quarter or trimester.
Term—unit other than semester or quarter, explained by footnote.

ENROLLMENT

For each institution for which data are available, the total enrollment of students of college grade, excluding correspondence students, in the fall of 1960 is given. Where figure is italicized, the enrollment is estimated. For institutions classified as terminal-occupational, total enrollment in organized occupational curricula is given.

[3] The names and addresses of executive secretaries of regional and professional accrediting associations may be found in Bulletin 1960, No. 24.

THIS DIRECTORY contains information based upon replies to a questionnaire sent by the Office of Education to education associations and organizations. The fact that an association or organization is listed in the Directory does not imply that the Office of Education either recommends or evaluates it.

The first item in a listing is the organization's name, followed by the address of headquarters, if any; the second, name and address of the head (president, chairman, director, etc.); the third, name and address of the secretary; the fourth, title(s) of the official periodic publication(s) and frequency of issue. If no address appears for the head or the secretary, it is the same as that for the organization.

The frequency of publication is shown by abbreviations: an. (annual); bien. (biennial); bm. (bimonthly); bw. (biweekly); ir. (irregular); m. (monthly); nos. (number issued each year); q. (quarterly); sa. (semiannual); sm. (semimonthly); trien. (triennial); w. (weekly).
